CENTENNIAL HOCKEY DRAW ANNOUNCED

The 1968 pairings for the Loyola Centennial College Hockey Tournament were announced today. Sir George Williams University will meet the mighty University of Toronto Blues in the opening game at 7:00 P.M. and host team Loyola will oppose McGill University at 9:00 P.M. next Thursday evening, January 4 at the Forum.

The winners of the January 4 encounter will play in the Championship tilt the following night, Friday, January 5 at 9:00 P.M., while the losers will contest for consolation honors at 7:00 P.M.

The Loyola pucksters are traveling south this week-end to the Brown Invitational Tournament to warm up for their own Tournament. Other teams competing for honors besides the sponsoring institution, Brown Univ. in Providence, R.I. are Carleton University, and defending U.S. College Champs Cornell University. Dave Draper's Warriors will be coming off a twelve day lay off.

The Christmas break has given Draper's club a chance to recover from a rash of minor injuries but starry Captain Roger Wilding and Defenseman Mike Lecour are still listed on the injured list and are not expected to be in uniform come game time.
